Early Literacy Goals

30 Million Words Before Age 4 is an Early Literacy goal that helps guide caregivers with their child's language development. The number of words a child is exposed to before the age of four is correlates directly with a child's future academic success. When you see the 30 Million Words symbol on a card, that activity is geared to increasing the number of words that your child hears.

1000 Books Before Kindergarten is an Early Literacy Program that encourages caregivers and their children to share the joy of reading and prepare their children for future academic success.

When you see the 1000 Books Before Kindergarten symbol on a card, that activity is geared to integrate more reading into your daily lives.

Use a toy phone or hand to your ear to have a pretend phone conversation with your child.

Activity

Toddlers love to copy things that adults do, including talking on the phone! Take time to pick up the “phone” and let your child babble away for a fun play conversation.

Why this is important :

This activity builds your child's language skills and teaches them how to have a conversation in a fun, playful way.

Explore Your World

Explore the world around your child by identifying different objects as they point them out.

Activity

When you are out and about, take time to identify objects or features your child may pay attention to. Make sure to call something by its proper name. For example, say "daisy" instead of "flower."

Why this is important :

This activity builds your child's vocabulary. Studies have shown it is easier for children to read words they already know.

1,000 Books Before Kindergarten

Set a goal to read 1,000 books to your child before kindergarten.

Activity

Read a book- any book. You can read books multiple times. Repetition helps children learn that words remain the same, no matter how much time passes between readings.

Why this is important :

A positive reading experience allows you and your child to bond and become life-long readers.

Moo! Oink! Meow!

Learn animal sounds with your child using a fun Tic-Tac-Toe inspired game.

Activity

Start by drawing a Tic-Tac-Toe board. Draw or put pictures of different animals in each square. Take turns with your child choosing an animal on the board and make that animal's sound. The first one to make three animal sounds in a row wins.

Why this is important :

This activity builds background knowledge of animal sounds. Imitating animal sounds also helps your child to practice making language sounds.

Did you hear that? Your child will have fun identifying the beginning sound of words.

Activity

Give your child a sound to clap to.

"I hear with my little ear, the sound /g/."

Say three words, one of which begins with the /g/ sound.

You can clap along if your child needs help.

To change up the game, try stomping or have your child give you a sound.

Why this is important :

This activity builds your child's ability to hear and play with smaller sounds in words.

Lights! Camera! Action! Act out a story with your child.

Activity

Act out stories with the use of toys such as dolls, puppets, or stuffed animals. Try dressing up and being a part of the story you both tell.

Why this is important :

This activity helps your child understand that stories have a beginning, middle and end. Acting in their own stories fosters imagination and creativity.
